Health cooperation beyond aid

MMI workshop in Berlin, 29 September 2016
Health cooperation beyond aid

MMI workshop on 29 September 2016

With its Berlin workshop – and with a related discussion paper – the Network Medicus Mundi International aims at providing a space for the discussion of the future of health development cooperation “beyond aid”. Representatives of institutions working in the field of development cooperation and participating in the VENRO conference “Leaving no one behind in global health – what should Germany’s contribution be?” on 28 September 2016 are most welcome to join us in this informal side event. Please register via e-mail, SMS or by contacting a MMI representative at the VENRO event.

Program

9.15 Coffee and networking
9.45 Warm-up
10.00 Christoph Bonsmann, action medeor
  Welcome
  Heiko Warnken, Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development
  How to achieve Universal Health Coverage, and what development cooperation can contribute

10.30 Open dialogue moderated by Andreas Wulf, medico international, referring to an MMI discussion paper distributed to the participants and published after the workshop
  Health Cooperation: Its relevance, legitimacy and effectiveness as a contribution to achieving universal access to health

12.00 Lunch

Poverty is not a natural condition. It is a state of plunder. It is delusional to believe that charity and aid are meaningful solutions to this kind of problem.”
Jason Hickel

Venue
Meet (Pavillon room)
Chausseestrasse 86
Berlin, Germany

Registration and enquiries berlin@medicusmundi.org
SMS +41 79 950 52 51
MMI staff at VENRO conference

cover illustration: ihp+